

Radisson Royal Moscow makes a big splash

September 23, 2013

The Radisson Royal Hotel, Moscow has made it into the record books with the longest indoor swimming pool in Russia. The world-championship designed pool – using Myrtha® Technology by FINA – has a record-breaking length of 49 metres and a width of 12.5 metres and is filled with water that has passed through a multi-stage filtration system, making it comparable to spring water. Located in the Wellness Club, the pool was officially recognised as a record breaker by the Chief Editor of the Russian Book of Records Alexey Svistunov as he presented General Manager Jesper Henrikson with a diploma.